MOONLIGHT SERENADE

A Bio-discography of the Glenn Miller Civilian Band
INTRODUCTION

FROM THE AUTHOR OF “THE BIG BANDS” AND “SIMON SAYS: THE SIGHTS AND SOUNDS OF THE SWING ERA”

This book offers an amazing mass of factual data. That’s obvious. What is less obvious, and what you don’t realize until you’re really into it, is the wonderful memories it evokes. For, even though this is primarily a Miller discography—a seemingly cold listing of what the band did, when and where—it serves as a great reminder of so many aspects of the band’s career. That’s why, when John Flower was showing me his manuscript, I kept reacting with remarks like, “Oh, yeah, I remember that night!” or “Hey, I never realized he was with the band at that time!” or “This is one arrangement I’d forgotten all about!”

John and his associates have given us a wonderful overview, impersonal perhaps, but doggedly detailed, of the music that enthralled so many millions of listeners for—come to think of it—not a terribly long time. They focus first on some intriguing portions of the band’s early struggles, when just a few of us friends and maybe a couple of couples here and there were listening to guys like Fazola and his round-toned clarinet, or to Johnny Austin and his searing trumpet—or ogling Kathleen Lane with her gorgeous figure that housed her attractive vibrato. And then they zero in on the parts of Glenn’s career that create the most nostalgia for the most people: those day-to-day and night-to-night activities, with their complete coverage of one-night stands, radio broadcasts, steady locations, theater dates and, of course, recording sessions—so many of them shared by so many of you who will be looking through this book.

All of this reveals, in toto, the impressively large amount of playing and traveling that the Miller orchestra did in a relatively short time. But this book also reveals something just as impressive: John Flower’s refreshing combination of devotion, accuracy and honesty. There’s no bull here. When John isn’t quite sure about some detail, either because the information is nowhere available, or because two bits of it turn out to be contradictory, he tells us so. Such diligence, coupled with such non-phoniness, are qualities of which Glenn, himself, would have approved very much, indeed. But then, of course, Glenn would have been equally proud of, and impressed by, this entire work, and, I’m sure would have had just as much fun perusing it and remembering and reliving all the details and highlights as undoubtedly you and so many other Miller enthusiasts are going to have.

Right now, I’m working on my own book about Glenn Miller—a biography about the man, about the people around him, and what he and they were all really like. I hope that when I’m finished, I will be able to be just as proud of my efforts as I’m certain John Flower must be of his. For all of this, thank you very much, John!

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This is not the result of one person’s work. Without the help, guidance and constructive criticism of many others it could not have been completed.

There are always certain collectors whose interest and efforts surpass others in obtaining information for a discography and it is to them that I wish to pay special tribute here:

To Ed Polic who set up his own notes, checked my notes, supplied a great deal of the information on record releases, discovered alternate takes and private airchecks which were checked out for duplication, did the groundwork on sorting out the GMMS transcriptions, evaluating new information, correcting my mistakes, etc.

To David Mackay, Executor of the Glenn Miller Estate, who permitted us to examine his files on the Miller band and gave us unstintingly the guidance that has produced this book. His help has been invaluable.

To Don Whyte, who gave encouragement when zeal was lacking, looked into the problems involved in publishing a book and provided us with new aircheck material and information.

To Ralph Monsees, who discovered new airchecks, made arrangements for meetings with the Executor in New York City, and provided constant encouragement and enthusiasm for the book.

To these collectors, enthusiasts, musicians, and record company representatives, without whose contributions this work would have been less than complete: The Glenn Miller Society, of London, England; Dr. Michael Arie; Stephen Bedwell; Ed Burke; Geoffrey Butcher; Joel Feigenbaum; Bobby Hackett; Bill Holland; Dick March; Brad McCuen; Francis Mitchell; John Mickolas; H. E. Pettingell; the Ransom Brothers; Al Samet; Fred Skinner; Henry Whiston; Tom Zack; and many, many more too numerous to mention here. A big vote of thanks to all!

AUTHOR’S PREFACE

This work has two purposes. The first is to catalogue all commercial recordings made by Glenn Miller and His Orchestra whether issued or unissued, and to list all non-commercial records (broadcasts) made by him. The second is to give a running commentary as to his whereabouts, his engagements (with crowds drawn where known), his films, the changing personnel of his band outside of the recording sessions, and his accomplishments during the period 1935 to 1942. Note that outside of the recording session in 1935 the actual period is from 1937 to 1942. We hope to be able to publish in the near future a discography on his earlier years as a sideman and arranger, as well as a discography on the Army Air Forces Orchestra 1943 to 1945 (which is already in preparation).

The overall format of this work is a chronological progression. Three type faces are used to differentiate among the several classes of information contained therein. The type style used in this paragraph (Times New Roman) is employed throughout the text for factual data and descriptive matter.

This type face (Goudy Old Style) is used to identify commercial recording, whether issued or unissued.

All broadcast material is shown in this type face (Arial).

We realize that there will inevitably be errors and omissions in this work but we have done our best with the information available. It must be noted that information from the Miller Estate, RCA Victor, and other sources, has led us to change facts and figures that were shown in the original discography published by The Glenn Miller Appreciation Society.

We must also mention that in some of the quotations from various magazine and newspapers the words are misspelled, punctuation is incorrect, and language is poor. However, since these are quotations, we have not attempted to make any corrections.

Finally, we must apologize for the long delay in getting this work published. It has been in the “works” for over ten years and we are pleased to see the final result. However, due to the delay, the final result is much more complete than it would otherwise have been.
PHYSICAL LAYOUT OF THE RECORDING SESSIONS

The first entry is the date followed by the studio location.

The second entry is the personnel for the recording session. If the personnel for the next recording session is the same as previously shown then the personnel is not repeated but reference is made to the last complete listing of personnel. Personnel changes are emphasized by listing replacements in bold capitals. Most of the information on the personnel is from the Glenn Miller Payroll Records and RCA Victor. Prior to October 1938 no records for GMPR are available and we have had to rely on various magazine articles in Down Beat, Metronome, etc., as well as the recording companies of Columbia, Decca, Brunswick, and RCA Victor, for information.

Next, in the left-hand margin, are the matrix numbers, followed by the take number, when known (e.g. 043957-1). Our take information has come directly from the record companies. The fact that RCA Victor indicate there were only one, two or three takes of a tune does not mean that these were the only takes made at the recording session. All it means is that out of perhaps five or six takes made at a recording session only one, two or three takes were “processed” and kept, and are now in RCA Victor’s files.

To the right of the matrix number(s) are the catalogue numbers of the issued records with the first issue underlined (e.g. BB 10536-A, HMV AU EA 2436, etc.) showing the side number (e.g. in this case it is Side A). We had hoped to indicate which releases were LPs, 45s, 78s, etc. but due to a constant addition of new releases this was not possible.

Below the catalogue numbers, in bold face type if a commercial release, are the tune titles: a code indicating the name of the arranger, where known (see explanation of codes in “Abbreviations” section, p. xiii); and the name(s) of the vocalist(s), if any.

Below this section in brackets, are the names of the lyricists and composers. Where we do not know this information, open brackets ( ) indicate this lack of information.

Finally, below the lyricist and composer credits are the soloists, where known. In order to shorten this listing we refer only to the last name of the musician (e.g. ts, Beneke) with the code for the instrument played.
PHYSICAL LAYOUT OF THE BROADCASTS

The first entry is the date; followed by the hotel, theater, night club, or dance hall; then followed by the town or city; then followed by the state or province; and then followed by the type of show (e.g. SUNSET SERENADE) in capital letters, where known.

The next entry is the network, followed by the time on the air, where known.

On the next line is the name of the announcer, where known.

Finally, we show the tunes, where known. We tried to get the correct order of the tunes as broadcast but since we were not able to listen to all of the broadcasts (and some are unavailable), the order may be out in some cases. Where a tune has been released on record the catalogue numbers are shown in exactly the same way as for a recording session. Note that we also show matrix numbers for LPs, etc. (even though they do not show any sequence) so that the issued tune stands out. Matrix numbers shown in these cases are for the first LP, etc. issued. For tunes that have been issued on record or where we have an aircheck we show the timing of the aircheck. When a timing is shown as thus (2:40-) the hyphen indicates that our copy of the aircheck, or the recorded aircheck is incomplete at the end. The following symbol is shown where the beginning of the tune is incomplete: (-2:40). The times shown are for music only and do not include announcements (and applause) unless the announcement is said after the tune has started. These timings do not always correspond with RCA Victor who are including applause, and announcements (in some instances) in their timings. All timings of broadcasts were timed by the author and may not be the same as stated by RCA Victor or elsewhere. Naturally, the timings of home recordings are out if they were off speed or re-taped many times.

There are some broadcasts where we have no details but outside of the Chesterfield Shows we have not, as a rule, shown “NO DETAILS AVAILABLE” to avoid repetition. Although we have almost a complete listing of all the Chesterfield Shows, many are in tough shape and many of the original discs were broken after the issuance of the First Limited Edition and the final tapes (in RCA Victor’s files) do not contain these programs.

We have not listed details of vocalists, arranger credits, etc. in the listing of broadcasts due to the fact that we have not heard all of the broadcasts (and the vocalists were often changed on broadcast versions of a recorded tune), but mainly to save space. We decided to only show all of the details where we have the aircheck, or where the aircheck has been released on record, or where it is the only listing in the discography of the tune. Also, if the tune is unreleased we have not shown the complete tune title. Therefore “I Do, Do You? (Do You Believe in Love)” is shown as “I Do, Do You?” In some cases where we have heard the aircheck at RCA Victor (but do not have the tune in our collection) we show vocalist(s) and solo credits.

Where we have an introduction of a tune by Glenn Miller or a known announcer this is shown (e.g. Int GM).

LABEL ABBREVIATIONS: Following are the abbreviations used in the text for the labels on which Glenn Miller’s recordings, tapes, and transcriptions were issued. All labels are of U.S. origin if they are not qualified by a notation in parentheses following them. Note that Canadian Bluebird (and Victor) records are the same numbers as the American issue and are not shown unless they are a different take.

April 1935

While Glenn was with the Ray Noble Orchestra he decided to record a few tunes with a group of sidemen from the Noble crew plus a few others that were currently in the New York area. Many of these sidemen later became bandleaders themselves.

It is interesting to note that years later Harry Bluestone
(vln) took over Glenn’s “I Sustain The Wings” show over NBC when the Miller band went overseas.

Epic EG-7005, Epic LG-3109, Epic LA 16006, PhE BBL 7086, CoE SEG 8309 and CoE 33 SX 1491 were issued under Bunny Berigan’s name.

The above session was just a pick-up date and the records were not commercially successful. Glenn recorded as a sideman for almost two years before he was ready to attempt leading a band on a full time basis. Glenn’s career as a sideman will be covered in another book.

January 1937

Miller started looking for men. Found Hal McIntyre leading a band in Meriden, Connecticut. Hired him as hot clarinetist but this changed when Irving “Fazola” came in later on. Miller spent six weeks finding men for his new band. Found tenor saxist Johnny Harrell in a 42nd Street spot in New York. (It was here that Glenn and George Simon were tossed out for not drinking.) Found trumpeter Sterling Bose. (Met. March 1937 & Dec. 1939)

March 1937

Band being booked by Rockwell-O’Keefe while the group was in its rehearsal stages. (Met March 1937)

Started rehearsals at the Haven Studios on West 54th Street, New York City. Charlie Spivak led the brass while Toots Mondello led the saxes at rehearsals. (Met. Dec. 1939)

Miller realized that some of his uncovered “stars” wouldn’t star on a record date and so the band was supplemented with several star sidemen for the upcoming Decca date. George Siravo played lead while the hot tenor was divided between Jerry Jerome and Carl Biesecker. Hal McIntyre played third sax and clarinet. The band cut six sides in three hours. Until about his third session for Bluebird Glenn considered them the best his band had ever made. (Met. Dec. 1939)

George Siravo did some arranging while with the band.

Several magazine articles have indicated that Miller did not play on this session but acted as leader and arranger only: "Another trombonist started a band about this time, but he didn't play trombone with it." (Met.
Oct. 1943) "Hal McIntyre was the only present Millerian heard, for at that time Glenn refused to play trombone, fearing he'd be labelled an inferior Tommy Dorsey. (Met. May 1941)

Simon on drums later became editor of Metronome magazine. He became one of Glenn's closest friends and was one of the first to boost Glenn's new band by his articles in Metronome.

Time On My Hands (You In My Arms) (arr CB)
(Harold Adamson-Mack Gordon-Vincent Youmans)
Muted tbn, Miller

There is some indication that Johnny Harrell played tenor sax instead of Biesecker but in view of Biesecker's arrangement being used on "Time On My Hands" as well as information from various LPs and other discographies we've listed Biesecker.

Matrices 21237/21238 are by the harpist, Mildred Drilling; 21239 was never used.

before departing for his upcoming Hotel Roosevelt, New Orleans dpot, Glenn Miller added very fine (and higher than usual pitched) gal warbler Kathleen Lane to his entourage. (Met. July 1937)

Sterling Bose was fired for "non-musical conditions" but rehired within twenty-four hours because his successor's "non-musical conditions" were much worse. (Met. July 1937)

11 June, 1937 (FRI)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra played at the Hunt Club,
Cleveland, Ohio, from 8:30-1:30 am. (GMC)

17 June, 1937 (THUR)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra opened at the Blue Room of the Hotel Roosevelt, New Orleans. (Variety, July 9, 1937)
"Originally booked for two weeks into the Hotel Roosevelt here, Glenn Miller had his contract renewed for another duo. At the end of the first month, Miller was again renewed for one more month at this Ralph Hitz swank hostelry." (Met. Aug. 1937) The band eventually played a record-breaking 10 week engagement at this hotel winding up August 26th. While at this hotel the band broadcast over WSBM (320 KW) nightly, except Sunday and Wednesday, at 12:30 am and over WWL (850 KW) nightly at 1:30 am. (DB, Aug. 1937)
Mid-June 1937

Miller having rhythm section problems--drummers changing rapidly. Two of the drummers were Emery Kenyon and Buddy Schutz. Spivak out--Miller couldn't afford him. (Met. Dec. 1939)

27 August, 1937 (FRI)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra opened at the Century Room of the Hotel Adolphus, Dallas, Texas. (Met. Sept. 1937 & BB, Aug. 14, 1937) The length of this engagement is not known.

"Down in Dallas it was a pleasure to bump into Glenn Miller leading a good band at the Adolphus hotel and doing swell business. The rhythm section is still giving Glenn some trouble but he should straighten out his difficulties in short order." (DB, Oct. 1937, article by John Hammond)

3 October, 1937 (FRI)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra opened at the Hotel Nicollet, Minneapolis, Minnesota. The band played for four weeks (7 days a week--Luncheon 12:30-2:00 pm weekdays) with a 2 weeks option, but closed October 30th.

Doc Carney (from Detroit) taken on as drummer; Ardell Garrett replaced Sterling Bose on third trumpet, while the first brass chair was taken over by Bob Price. (Met. Nov. 1937)

5 November, 1937 (FRI)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra opened at the Raymor Ballroom, Boston, Massachusetts (no Sundays). (GMC & Boston Post, 5 November, 1937) Miller decided on five sax styling during this date and added Irving "Fazola" (clarinet and alto sax) and dropped the guitar. (Met. Dec. 1939)

The following were in the band at the beginning of this date:

Trombones Glenn Miller, Jesse Ralph, Bud Smith
Trumpets Bob Price, Tweet Peterson, Ardell Garrett
Reeds George Siravo, as; Hal McIntyre, as; Irving "Fazola" Prestopnick, clt & as; Jerry Jerome, ts; Carl Biesecker, ts

This date gave Miller his first coast-to-coast air-shots (a WJZ Network line via WBZ Boston, Variety, Dec. 15, 1937) over NBC. (Met. Dec. 1939)

Later Tony Viola replaced George Siravo.

A couple of the tunes played while at the ballroom were "Swannee River" and "Basin Street" (with a vocal by Kathleen Lane). (Met. Dec. 1937)

Miller also tried to hire Brad Gowans (in Frankie Ward's Orchestra) while in Boston. (DB, Dec. 1937)

Glenn Miller signed Arthur Michaud of Rockwell O'Keefe as personal manager. (Met. Dec. 1937)

"Fazola's clarinet and Jerry Jerome's tenor along with the swell vocals by Kathleen Lane of Glenn Miller's band gave the local cats a boot." (Met. Feb. 1938)

20 December, 1937 (MON)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra played at Brunswick, Maine. (GMC)
Late December 1937

The band was in a state of flux during the following one-nighters:

Bowdoin College, Main--one of Frat houses for pre-holiday house party. (Met. Jan. 1938)
Pennsylvania--lots of car and bus breakdowns in heavy snows--morale low--Miller's wife sick. (Met. Dec. 1939)
Maurice "Moe" Purtill replaced Doc Carney but only for one night--Tommy Dorsey called Miller next day for Purtill as he needed a replacement for Dave Tough. Vic Angle, former drummer with Red Nichols and Joe Venuti, replaced Purtill late in December. (Met. Jan. 1938)
Les Biegel, hot trumpet, replaced Tweet Peterson. (Met. Jan. 1938) Les Biegel stated in "Down Beat" (July 27, 1951) that he joined the band at the Nicollet Hotel in Minneapolis which is contrary to the above information.

Miller gave the band notice on New Year's Eve. Miller lost over $18,000.00 in 1937, was having managerial problems, his wife was sick, Henry Okun was suing Kathleen Lane for breach of contract, some of the band members were heavy drinkers and prima-donnas, and morale in the band was very low. (DB, July 27, 1951; Met. Dec. 1939)

2 January, 1938 (SUN)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra played at Ritz Ballroom, Bridgeport, Connecticut from 9:30-12:30 am. (GMC) Tommy "Butch" Di Carlos (lead tpt) replaced Garrett. (Met. Feb. 1938) After this date the band returned to New York and disbanded. (DB, July 27, 1951; Met. Dec. 1939)

Kathleen Lane joined Isham Jones; Jerry Jerome joined Red Norvo; Les Biegel went home to Milwaukee; Fazola went back to Ben Pollack and then to Bob Crosby. (Met. Dec. 1939)

January 1938

Miller spent time making new arrangements and looking for men for his new band.

February 1938

Miller played trombone on several Tommy Dorsey broadcasts. (Met. Dec. 1939)

March 1938

Miller started rehearsals at the Haven Studios on West 54th Street, New York City. Glenn had just turned down a $250 a week job with Vincent Lopez. No more prima-donnas. Glenn started Edition #3 with only four hold-overs from the 1937 band (McIntyre, MacGregor, Rowland Bundock and Bob Price). Two men from Gene Krupa's band, Claude Lakey and Dave Schultz, recommended a saxophonist who was in Detroit with Ben Young's band. Two weeks later Tex Beneke joined the band and was paid $52.50 a week. Glenn hired Gail Reese, who had worked for Carl Ravazza and Bunny Berigan, and Ray Eberle who he met at a Jimmy Dorsey program. Eberle was hired at $35 a week. (Met. Dec. 1939; Met. March 1954; DB, July 27, 1951)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra played for one week (closed Friday, September 2nd) at Guy Hunt’s Ocean Pier, Wildwood, New Jersey. (BB, Aug. 6, 1938; BB, Aug. 13, 1938; GMC)

September 1938

Sometime during this month Glenn signed a recording contract with RCA Victor on their 35-cent Bluebird label.

Also during this month Marion Hutton joined the band replacing Linda Keane as vocalist.

“It was while playing in Boston that he heard two sisters singing with Vincent Lopez: Betty and Marion Hutton. The talk was all about Betty, but Glenn much preferred Marion’s more mature work. And so one morning, just an hour before the band left on a southern tour, a well built lass with an even better built grin joined the band. She made an immediate hit. Southerners knew her as Sissy Jones, but upon return to the north, she was re-assigned her more dignified moniker.” (Met. Dec. 1939)

Miller was in Boston July 2nd and August 16th. It might be the latter date when he heard Marion. However, Linda Keane was vocalist with the band during the date at Hamid’s Million Dollar Pier, so it must be assumed that Marion joined the band some time after this date. A short tour of the southern states began in early September.

Finally, during the period September to October Bob Barker played 2nd trumpet with Bob Price on 1st trumpet with Johnny Austin on 3rd (hot) trumpet. (Met. Nov. 1938)

Glenn Miller. According to the November 1938 issue of Metronome the arrangement was made for Tommy Dorsey.

The original 78 issue of “By the Waters of Minnetonka” was a two-sided 10" disc. Later EP, LP, and CD reissues have (through splicing) made it a continuous number.

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra opened at Roseland State Ballroom, Boston, Massachusetts, with two CBS weekly coast to coast hookups (Tuesday, 11:30 pm and Saturday, 11:00 pm–DB, Dec. 1938) (Variety, Sept. 28, 1938) The local station (CBS) for these broadcasts was WABC. (BB, Dec. 24, 1938; Boston Post, Sept. 30, 1938)

The Miller band also played a number of one-nighters during its stay at the Roseland State Ballroom and used Boston as its base of operations. The band usually played at the Roseland State Ballroom on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

This date marks the beginning of the Glenn Miller Payroll Records (GMPR). At this stage they were rather rough and did not indicate the date when a musician joined or left the band. These records begin on a Sunday and end on a Saturday (eg. October 2nd to October 8th). All we can assume is that a musician was there for the entire week as the salaries were all the same and there is no pro rata breakdown (as the later payrolls in 1940, 1941, and 1942 show) to indicated that a musician may have only been with the band for part of the week. The payroll records also show where the band was playing but does not always give a complete description of the location so that in some cases we know the town but not the name of the ballroom, etc.

There are problems deciding upon the personnel for the week December 11th to December 17th. The above names are shown for full payroll but under a section on GMPR shown as “Expenses” there are extra salaries indicated for Harder (instrument unknown), Knowles (trumpet), and Howlett (instrument unknown). Legh Knowles (trumpet) came from Red Norvo. (Met. Feb. 1939) He was certainly in the trumpet section for part of this week and probably one (or both of the men (Harder and Howlett) were in for the other part of the week. It is also possible that Lakey or Sandifer did not join at the beginning of the week and the two unknown instrumentalists might have been their temporary substitutes, but the payroll records do not go into enough detail to determine this. Bob Spangler (drums) left the band to join Jan Savitt. (Met. Jan. 1939) It was rumored that Cliff Leeman (who was ill and had been replaced by Buddy Rich in the Artie Shaw band), upon recovery, might join Miller but this never happened. (Met. Feb. 1939)

17 December, 1938 (SAT)

Glenn Miller and His Orchestra played at Roseland State Ballroom, Boston, Massachusetts. (GMPR & Boston Post, Dec. 17, 1938)

Note that we do not have a payroll listing for the next week. During this period Johnny Austin left the band (he returned for a short period in January) and was replaced by Claude Bowen. It is quite possible that there were other changes (temporary).

cover over a week (December 18th to December 29th) but since we’ve no proof of this we can not safely say that the following personnel was present during that period and we could only assume that this personnel was set from December 23rd to December 29th.

Trombones  Glenn Miller, Al Mastren, Paul Tanner
Trumpets  CLAUDE BOWEN, ??????????, Bob Price
Reeds  Hal McIntyre, as; Stanley Aronson, as & bar; Wilbur Schwartz, clt & as; Tex Beneke, ts Claude Lakey, ts

Arranger  Bill Finegan

We’re not sure who the third trumpeter was but Legh Knowles is on the week of December 30th to January 5th and might have been with the band on this date (but there is no paycheck issued to him on December 29th). For the week December 11th to December 17th Legh Knowles is shown for being there part of the week but he may not have joined the band full time until later.
